Bio

Lily joined St. Louis Iron Works Local 396 on May 1st 2021 and has been an outstanding member and Iron Worker since she joined our Local. She has excelled quickly through the apprenticeship program completing OSHA 10, OSHA Subpart R IWSPR, Crane Signaling Hand and Voice IWCRANS, Scaffold Erector/Dismantler IWSED and has also excelled very quickly in our welding program and has already received welding certifications SMAW 3G, 4G 1" weld test. She has also received job specific welding certifications from Alberici which I have attached below with the photos of Lily.

Lily is not only a great person but a great representative of IW Local 396.

Why Lily Was Nominated

The reason I would like to nominate Lily is because since she became a member she has been a very good Iron Worker and well respected on the jobsite. She attends Union Meetings and the local's functions on a regular basis. She is also a very likeable and humble person. She has worked almost her whole apprenticeship with Alberici and has excelled as one of their top welders even as a young apprentice. You do not normally see that with an apprentice at this early stage of their career. I know Lily would represent Ironworkers Local 396 very well as a recipient of The Tradeswomen Heroes Award and as the Business Manager of IW Local 396 I am proud to nominate Lily Seago #1604612 for The Tradeswomen Heroes Award.
