Bio

Rosa Dimatteo Eells is a 3rd-year apprentice, dedicated mother, passionate ironworker, devoted mother, and proficient fitter, who fiercely navigates the world of steel and construction with grace and strength.

Her determination and resilience on the job site are matched only by her unwavering love and care for her family at home. When she's not mastering the art of ironwork, you can find her cherishing moments with her child and husband, instilling in them the values of hard work, perseverance, and integrity that define her character.

Balancing the demands of a challenging career in ironwork with the joys and responsibilities of motherhood and a wife, she exemplifies the true meaning of strength, both in the physical realm and in the depths of her heart. Whether she's shaping the skyline with steel beams, nurturing her family with love and wisdom, or fine-tuning intricate fittings with precision, Rosa embodies the essence of a modern-day wonder woman, forging her own path in a traditionally male-dominated industry. Her husband, Bryan Eells, said she is the glue of the family who keeps the pieces together, if she overcome an embolism she can do anything she is a real fitter.
