Advance Your Career in Construction Management

Rowan's BA in Construction Management is designed for working adults—journeypersons, apprentices, and seasoned professionals—looking to grow their leadership skills. The program prepares students to supervise and manage construction sites, buildings, and facilities.

Endorsed by North America's Building Trades Unions (NABTU), Rowan's program is recognized for its strong ties to apprenticeship training and partnerships with industry leaders, community organizations, and higher education institutions.

→ "I feel confident that anyone who took this program would have an advantage when they entered the construction management workforce."

— Nick Weathers, Rowan University Class of 2020
